

CONGRESS BEGINS REVISION FIGHT

House Democrats Will At- tempt to Settle Differ- ences in Caucus

WILL SUBDIVIDE BILL

Leaders Insist That the Under- wood Bill Be Subdivided Be- fore It Is Balloted Upon

DETAILS TAKEN UP TODAY

WASHINGTON, APRIL 8.—The fight for Democratic tariff revision began in congress today. Conference and party plans, which have held the stage for weeks past, gave way to the first open steps for the passage of the new tariff bill President Wilson's personally delivered message, calling upon his party associates in both houses to speedily enact the party's pledges of tariff revision, was followed by a caucus of Democratic house members which will continue for several days, and in which Democrats will attempt to settle their differences and agree upon support of the Underwood bill. Criticism of many features of the law developed during the day in Democratic circles in the senate. In a short caucus of senate Democrats held to consider other matters, criticism was voiced by one or two western senators against the free wool provision and the sugar schedule proposing free sugar in 1916.

Will Not Be Open to Public.
The house Democrats settled none of the general tariff questions today. The three hour session was devoted to an unsuccessful fight to throw the doors open to the public, a proposal defeated by a vote of 167 to 84. Details of the new tariff bill will be taken up tomorrow.

Senate leaders are still insistent that the Underwood bill be subdivided so that separate votes may be had if desired upon the sugar and wool schedules.

One plan that has been proposed to President Wilson is that schedules be grouped in such a way that the tariff will be comprised in four separate measures. These proposals are based on a growing belief that opponents of the sugar and wool provisions may muster strength enough to threaten defeat of the bill. Many Progressive Republican senators expressed their opposition to the Underwood bill because of the sweeping character of its proposed reductions. The Democrats are counting on little if any Progressive Republican support in the senate should the tariff revision go before that body as a single bill.

Will Adopt Recommendations.
In the house caucuses Representative Palmer, the chairman, made a vehement plea for letting the public know what its representatives are doing, aligning himself with President Wilson's expressed attitude in favor of throwing all these meetings open. He was supported by several representatives, but Democratic Leader Underwood and others opposed the open caucus. Tomorrow the caucus probably will adopt the ways and means committee majority recommendations of the only committees to be created at this time, and will reach the tariff program with the new tariff handbooks in the hands of every member as guides. The new committees recommended by the leaders of the three parties, follow:

Declare Bill Retrogressive.
It was learned today that the Re-

FLOOD SITUATION AT CAIRO MUCH IMPROVED

SEVENTH REGIMENT I. N. G. HAS BEEN ORDERED AWAY

Refugees About Shawneetown Are in Need of Food and Shelter—River Shows Slight Fall—High Wind Increases Danger.

CAIRO, ILL., APRIL 8.—So improved had become the local flood situation today that the seventh regiment of the Illinois national guard was ordered away. The regiment took the steamer Henry Armstrong for Thebes, where it boarded a train to Chicago. Two companies of the fourth regiment were taken to Mound City to relieve the members of the seventh regiment who were quartered there.

Adjutant General Frank S. Dickson will go tomorrow to Shawneetown on the steamer Illinois, with supplies for the 1,000 refugees camped in the hills. The adjutant general received word that 214 refugees were without food at Pond Hill near Ned Haven. At New Haven, 200 are without provisions. He heard that 125 were stranded at Ulen, that 150 need assistance at Pulaski and 200 at Hodges Park.

The river tonight is 54.6 feet high, a fall of 1 since yesterday. A high wind dashed water against the levee, increasing the danger.

Many Families Homeless.
Golconda, Ill., April 8.—Three-fourths of this town in the valley is under from one to twenty feet of water and seventy five families are homeless. Golconda has been cut off from all communication with the outside world for a week, and a telegraph line re-established today is the only connection link. The crest of the flood was reached Sunday when the stage was eleven inches above the record of 1884 and there has been a decline from the high mark of only four inches.

Damage in Uniontown.
Louisville, Ky., April 8.—Much damage was done in Uniontown, Ky., today by wind according to reports received here tonight by Major James A. Logan, U. S. A., in charge of the government relief work on the lower Ohio river. Already under water which the wind lashed into great waves, many buildings according to the report were destroyed.

Sanitary Situation Serious.
Reports of the sanitary situation received by federal officials from towns in the lower Ohio valley were considered sufficiently serious today to warrant sending a medical relief expedition to the afflicted territory. The steamer Edward Mayer will leave here tomorrow to visit river towns as far down as Paducah, Ky. On board will be representatives and members of the Kentucky and Indiana state board of health.

The boat will carry a large supply of lime, vaccine and serum designed to combat outbreaks of typhoid, meningitis and smallpox. Sanitary conditions at various points seriously affected by the flood are considered menacing. At some of these places, it was declared local officials did not fully recognize the danger of the flood's aftermath.

The government, Major Logan, in charge of the relief work, explained, will not take charge of the sanitation work, but is seeking merely to aid local authorities.

ZIONISTS PRAY IN PEACE.

Zion City, Ill., April 8.—Under the protection of the court Zionists held religious meetings this afternoon in the streets without interference. It was the first time in three years they had prayed in peace in the open and tonight there is great rejoicing.

FIND AGED WOMAN DEAD.

Green Bay, Wis., April 8.—The decayed and partly decayed body of Mrs. Johann Larkin was found in her cottage on the outskirts of the city today. Physicians say she had been dead a week. Rats had chewed the flesh of her face and other parts of her body. A daughter, who had not seen her for ten days, discovered the body. She was 77 years old.

publicans of the committee in their minority report to be submitted when the committee reports the tariff bill will declare that the Democratic measure is retrogressive and appears to be unanimously approved abroad; that some of the rates in the bill provide incidental protection instead of being solely for revenue purposes and will attack the change of the present rates to an ad valorem basis as being in conflict with the experience of all the great countries of the world except one. They will insist that the new bill would reverse the government's whole policy; that the Payne-Aldrich law now in operation can raise all the revenue needed to meet the government demands, that the Democratic plan would involve a deficit of $100,000,000 that would have to be met by war time taxation methods, and that without the present maximum and minimum clause, it would not be possible for President Wilson to get tariff concessions from foreign countries.

Mass Meeting in Honolulu.
Honolulu, April 8.—All business was suspended here today while a mass meeting was held to protest that the sugar schedule proposed in the new Democratic tariff bill would paralyze all business in Hawaiian Islands.

A committee of merchants reported that 20,000 letters of complaint had already gone to Washington and that there would be 20,000 more.

AUTHORIZE DIRECT ELECTION OF SENATORS

CONNECTICUT LAST STATE TO RATIFY CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Special Sessions of the Legislatures in Many States Will Be Urged so That Necessary Laws Can Be Passed Before 1914.

WASHINGTON, APRIL 8.—Direct election of United States senators by the people was authorized and made compulsory to day when the Connecticut legislature ratified the constitutional amendment submitted by congress less than a year ago. Ratification already had been given by thirty-five states. The situation that results throughout the country, where many legislatures have adjourned until 1915, is such as to leave confusion in the minds of the senate, as to how the early steps toward direct election of senators will be carried out.

While the proclamation of the secretary of state announcing final ratification of the amendment by 36 states, is required by law, Senators Bristow and Borah, leaders in the direct elections fight in congress, expressed the opinion to day that the amendment is for all practical purposes now a part of the constitution. "Any man who may be elected to the senate hereafter must be elected directly," said Senator Borah.

May Prescribe Methods.
The new amendment gives to the state legislatures, however, the right to prescribe the methods for electing senators. Many legislatures have adjourned and will not reconvene until early in 1915, a few weeks before the terms of over thirty senators expire. It is expected that in many states the legislatures will adopt the plan authorized in the new amendment and direct the governors to appoint senators temporarily until the people can elect men at regularly called elections.

Urges Special Sessions.
Special sessions of the legislatures will be urged in many states so that the necessary laws can be passed before the general elections of 1914. In some states action has already been taken or will be before the legislatures end their present sessions, authorizing the people to vote for senators at next year's election.

The choice of a senator in Maryland for the place now held by Senator Jackson would have been made by the legislature next year under the old system. A special session of the Maryland legislature would be necessary to provide laws by which a popular election could occur next year. In the opinion of members of the senate no successor can be appointed by the governor under the new provision when Senator Jackson's expires, until the legislature shall have especially directed such action.

Text of Amendment.
The new amendment to the constitution, for the popular election of United States senators, is the seventh to be adopted. It reads:

"The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote. The electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislatures.

"When vacancies happen in the representation of any state in the senate, the executive authority of such state shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies, provided that the legislature of any state may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct."

The amendment primarily transfers the power of electing senators from the state legislatures, to the people at the polls. To effect this change it was necessary to alter the machinery for the filling of vacancies in the senate.

For more than sixty years proposals have been made to change the constitution so as to provide for the direct election of senators. It was not, however, until June 24, 1911, that the senate was induced to give its consent to the change. On that day it voted to submit to the states the proposed amendment. The resolution to submit had already passed the house in a somewhat different form. Before adjournment of the session, both houses agreed to the language to be employed, and the resolution was deposited with the secretary of state May 16, 1912, for distribution among the states.

The Original Theory.

The original theory in establishing the choice of senators was that they represented the states, whereas the members of the house represented the people of their districts. It was because of this theory of the state as a unit that all states, large and small, were given equal representation in the senate, Rhode Island having the same number as New York or Pennsylvania. In the theory of the constitution framers this entity of the state was thus made more distinct under the federal system, and the state legislature was regarded as the suitable medium for expressing this state entity. Later it was contended that state entity would still be preserved if by the people of the entire state, instead of the legislature, chose the senators, and this view has now been accepted as the basis of the new system.

In 1826 the first action was taken in congress looking to a change. In

DETECTIVES TESTIFY AGAINST PFANSCHMIDT

SAY RAY ATTEMPTED TO IMPLICATE SEVERAL FARMERS IN MURDERS

Officer Who was Placed in Cell With Pfanschmidt Also Declares that Ray Accused Former Chum of Placing His Khaki Suit in Bait for Revenge.

QUINCY, ILL., APRIL 8.—Statements that Ray Pfanschmidt attempted to implicate prominent farmer in the Payson neighborhood in the murder of his father, mother, sister and Miss Emma Keampen and that he further accused Frank Short, a former chum with whom he had a quarrel over a girl, of putting the khaki suit in the vault as a means of revenge, were features of today's proceedings in the trial of Ray Pfanschmidt. These statements were made by Detectives Herbert Young and Richard Farley of Chicago.

Detective Placed in Cell.

Detective Farley was arrested on a trumped up charge and placed in the cell with Ray Pfanschmidt. For a time Ray told Farley many things which the detective wanted to know, but Ray's attorneys learned of Farley's identity and informed their client that the man in the cell with him was a detective. Young Pfanschmidt, however, told Farley that he would see that the detective, who posed as a professional crook, would get $10,000 if he secured Ray's release from jail in some way. Ray also told Farley that the two banks at Payson could easily be dynamited and a rich haul made. It was to Detective Farley that Ray said that the khaki suit was placed in the vault by Frank Short in intention of revenge. It is the contention of the defense that Ray was simply "stringing" the detective, being aware at times of the identity of his cell mate.

Declare Ray was Ill Treated.

The defense today attempted in their cross examination to show that Ray Pfanschmidt had been treated in a merciless manner while in jail and that third degree methods were used to extort a confession from him. The officers admitted sweating him in jail for six hours and keeping him up until nearly 2 o'clock in the morning plying him with questions. At one time, according to Detective Young's evidence Ray was willing to tell the whole story if he might see his uncle, William Abel, his sweetheart, Miss Esther Reeder, and his attorneys. He promised on Sunday evening to make the statement the next afternoon. When the specified time arrived, however, the young prisoner was as sullen as ever.

During the cross examination of took an active part in counseling Sheriff Lipps today the defendant with his attorneys. He seemed the most anxious of all to prove to the jury that he was treated with no consideration while in jail and that harsh methods were used to attempt to compel him to confess.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE DEFEATED IN MICHIGAN.

Detroit, Mich., April 8.—Woman suffrage in Michigan was generally conceded hopelessly defeated in yesterday's election, scattering returns received late today from the rural districts of the state did not tend to materially decrease the big majority rolled up against the amendment by the early returns. Its opponents tonight predicted a majority of at least 25,000.

POPE PIUS X SUFFERS RELAPSE OF INFLUENZA

CONDITION GRAVER THAN THAT OC- CASIONED BY LAST ILLNESS

Present Attack Began With Fainting Fit Monday Evening—At a Late Hour Last Night His Condition Was Said to Have Materially Improved.

BULLETIN.

ROME, APRIL 9. (1:00 A. M.)—The physician in attendance on the Pope through the night reported at midnight that the Pope's temperature showed a slight rise, this however, did not prevent the patient from getting a fair amount of sleep.

ROME, APRIL 7.—Pope Pius X., has suffered a relapse, and as is usual in relapses, his condition is considered graver than that occasioned by his illness of last month. The present attack began with a fainting fit, and Prof. Marchisava, the papal physician, was summoned late last night. He visited the pontiff again early this morning and several times during the day.

The official statement given out at the vatican simply says: "The Pope is suffering from a relapse of the influenza."

The Osservatore Romano, the vatican organ, published the following statement this evening: "Since yesterday evening, the holy father has been indisposed with a relapse of influenza. His condition is causing no anxiety, but he requires much rest."

Causing Great Anxiety.
The truth is that the pope's relapse is causing great anxiety, because it was not expected and for the further reason that at his advanced age there is the ever-present danger of his being unable to withstand the strain on his strength. During his recent illness the Pope was much depressed, but as he regained his health, this distressing symptom disappeared. With the return of the influenza, depression is one of the symptoms that has been manifested.

Today the temperature reached a little over 100 fahrenheit which in itself is not at all alarming, but the heart showed weakness and there were evidences of kidney trouble. The condition known as albuminuria which frequently accompanies influenza, is present indicating nephritis or inflammation of the kidneys.

Condition Materially Improved.

At a late hour tonight the Pope's condition was said to have materially improved, partly owing to the fact that he had remained in bed all day, and with the exception of Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state, his sisters and a niece, had received no visitors.

At seven o'clock Monday evening the Pope retired to his study. He had complained of feeling over-tired. At just what hour he was overcome by a fainting spell has not been learned, but members of the household rushing to his assistance realized that his condition was serious and became greatly alarmed, as no physician was present. Father Presdocimo, the vatican chemist was called and administered stimulants which revived the pontiff.

Dr. Andrea Amioi was hastily summoned, and was followed by Prof. Marchisava. They found that the Pope had already been put to bed, but was still suffering from a recurrence of faintness. Finding that the action of the heart was weak, they injected strophanthus, which restored him.

The sisters and niece of the pontiff were notified immediately and went at once to the vatican. They remained however, at the bedside for only a few minutes.

All Audiences Suspended.
By order of the physicians all audiences were suspended and the Pope remained in bed throughout the day, with the result that a steady improvement was noted. On his last visit tonight, Dr. Marchisava found conditions satisfactory, although the pontiff was extremely weak.

Cardinal Merry Del Val, in reply to questions concerning the exact condition of the pope, asserted that the official statement was absolutely correct. He said the Pope was suffering only from a fresh slight attack of influenza, which had caused an insignificant rise in temperature. This condition he added, needed greater care than the former attack, and a more prolonged rest. It indicated that the constitution of the pontiff which he considers strong was easily affected by an excessive fatigue or atmospheric changes, which are especially noticeable in these days when the vagaries of the weather bring summer heat one day and cold and rain the next.

"I feel sure," said the papal secretary, that with extreme care, helped by the prayers of the faithful, the holy father will be spared long for the glory of the church."

Prof. Marchisava, in an interview tonight said that the alarm was not justified. He expressed the hope that the attending physicians would be able to overcome the disease quickly, if the pontiff were allowed complete rest.

ATHLETE DROPS DEAD.

Rockford, Ill., April 8.—Ralph Levinger, former high school football star and track athlete, dropped dead at the home of his sister here today. An autopsy revealed a brain hemorrhage. He was severely injured by a kick on the head in a football game several years ago.

DISCUSS SUBJECT OF MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE

HOUSE AND SENATE COMMITTEES MEET TO CONSIDER PROPOSED BILLS

Statement Made That Divorce Should Be Made Easier is Denounced by Judge Kavanaugh—Jefferson Boulevard Dies of Apoplexy—Other Springfield News.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., APRIL 8.—The subject of marriage and divorce occupied the entire afternoon session of the joint meeting of the house and senate committees on judicial department and practice, called for the purpose of considering bills now before the legislature affecting these subjects.

The session was enlivened by a scathing denunciation by Judge Marcus Kavanaugh of Chicago of statements by Dr. Anna E. Blount also of Chicago, that easier rather than greater restrictions should be placed about such cases.

Dr. W. O. D. Waters, rector of the Grace Episcopal church, made a plea for the enactment of the pending measure, declaring the arguments made by the opponents of the bills were arguments for "free love."

It is expected that at tomorrow's meeting action will be taken on the bills. By unanimous vote the senate committee on constitutional amendments reported with a recommendation that it pass, the senate resolution for submission to the people at the next election for members of the general assembly a proposed amendment to the constitution providing for the initiative and referendum.

The house committee on drainage and waterways this afternoon voted to report out, with the recommendation that it pass, the house bill authorizing the sanitary district of Chicago to construct, operate and maintain a harbor in Lake Calumet. The harbor is to embrace not less than 500 of the 3,200 acres included in the lake.

Bills Advanced to Third Reading.
Several bills were advanced to third reading today in the senate. They include the following:

Giving cities right to own and operate gas plants.

Making more teachers amenable to the teachers' pension fund.

Creating a third term for the circuit court in Bond and Randolph counties.

Many bills were introduced in the house today and referred.

One was Brown's libel bill, which he introduced at the last session. Among other bills introduced were the following:

To allow per diem fees of $6 to county and probate clerks of first and second class.

Appropriating $30,000 for establishing a state park on the site of the old Fort Charles in Randolph county to be used in rebuilding the walls and fortifications of Fort Charles was subsequently the seat of French and British governments in colonial days.

Appropriating $25,000 for the purchase of the home of Gen. John A. Logan at Benton, Ill., for a memorial to substitute a state agriculture commission for the state board of agriculture. The commission would consist of five members, appointed by the governor at salaries of $3,000 each.

Prohibiting brewery companies from owning, operating or having any interest in saloons.

To construct a deep waterway from Lockport to Utica and to develop and utilize water power by the state and creating a commission to carry out the provisions of the act.

Representative W. W. McCormick offered a joint resolution providing for the submission to the voters at the next general election of the general assembly of a proposed constitutional amendment for the election of a speaker of the house by a direct vote of the people. It was referred to the judiciary committee.

Governor Dunne appeared before the appropriations committee during the afternoon and asked that the assembly keep the appropriations as close to $30,000,000 as possible. The governor indicated that he was willing to accept the 55 cent rate, but made it plain that he might veto appropriation measures if the total ran much over the thirty million mark.

The governor asked that the committee refrain from recommending any bills for the purchase of state parks, for the building of monuments of any character and for all purposes that were not absolutely essential to the immediate welfare of the state.

The governor also expressed the opinion the $500,000 for Illinois' exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition was too much and suggested that it be reduced to $200,000.

Meeting with the State Bar association was the Illinois State Society of American Institute of criminal law and criminology.

Judge William Gemmill, of the municipal court of Chicago, president of the society, made the principal address before the society this afternoon. He urged the abolishment of the grand jury system, and criticized the administration of the criminal law.

Can Vote at Former Home.

Although state officials may reside at the seat of government, that does not prevent them from voting in the district in which they voted before becoming such officers, according to an opinion given out by Attorney General Lacey and which was received by State Treasurer Ryan. State Treasurer Ryan was prevented from voting at the town-ship election at Danville a week ago.

PRESIDENT STATES TARIFF PROGRAM

Brushes Aside All Bound- aries Between Congress And Executive Office

VISIT TO CAPITOL BRIEF

Wilson Spends But Quarter of An Hour at Capitol Delivering His Tariff Message

ASKS THAT PLEDGES BE KEPT

WASHINGTON, D. C., APRIL 8.—President Woodrow Wilson today bridged the gap that for over a century has separated the pilots of public business, the executive and legislative branches of the government.

Not as a cog in a machine, not as an impersonal political entity, nor as a mere department of government, but as the human president, he went to congress to speak about the tariff.

Standing before the senate and house of representatives in joint session as no other president had done for more than a hundred and twelve years, President Wilson stated simply and tersely what he thought should be done for the welfare of the country and asked his legislative colleagues, man to man, to aid in keeping the pledges of their party. With a sweep of decision that shattered prediction, the president brushed aside all imaginary boundaries between congress and the executive office and rescued himself as he expressed it, from that "isolated island of jealous authority" which the presidency had come to be regarded.

Unusual Importance.

Congress, somewhat startled the other day when it heard that the president had determined to deliver his message on the tariff by word of mouth, had prepared for a ceremony of unusual importance and such it was, yet when President Wilson arrived in the midst of the great assemblage, riding through throngs of cheering people in the streets and later looking up into galleries crowded with privileged ticket holders, he seemed after all what he said he was, "a human being trying to cooperate with other human beings in a common service."

When the much heralded incident was over congress seemed pleased, and the president was delighted. He expressed himself to friends as impressed with the dignity of the occasion and some of his confidants later declared that he left the capitol greatly relieved to think that, after all, his precedent-smashing had not been such a cataclysmic thing as some older heads had predicted.

Visit to Capitol Brief.

The president's visit to the capitol was brief, lasting about a quarter of an hour. Leaving a cabinet meeting at the white house he started on his mission at 12:15. No one except a secret service man accompanied him. He rode in a white house automobile and five minutes later was driven through the crowd assembled about the house.

At 12:54 p. m. he reached Speaker Clark's room just off the house chamber, where a joint committee of senators and representatives welcomed him. They were Senators Kern, Bacon and Gallinger and Representatives Underwood, Palmer and Mann. The president spoke to each for a moment and was informed that the senate and house awaited him. He said he was ready and the committee immediately started for the door of the house chamber, the president on Senator Bacon's right.

At two minutes before 1 o'clock the president entered the chamber. Members of the house and senate rose as Speaker Clark brought down the gavel. From the floor and galleries distinguished guests looked on at the scene.

Ambassadors from many lands were in the audience, members of the cabinet were there and all the people who possibly could get in were present to witness the proceeding.

Interest Was Tense.

President Wilson, escorted by Senator Bacon, bowed acknowledgement to the applause and mounted the speaker's stand, directly in front of the speaker. With a smile as he began to speak, the president told his hearers why he had come. He said he was glad to verify for himself the impression that the president of the United States was a person. He was speaking in an ordinary tone of voice, just as though he were talking to a senator in his office. The crowded chamber was hushed after the momentary thrills of conversation upon his entrance had ebbed away. Every eye was fixed upon him as he spoke, and it was instantly apparent that he had aroused the keenest interest.

As the president proceeded with his preliminary statement averring that he was not a mere department of government, but human, and that he had come to speak naturally with his fellowmen, the interest was tense. After this pleasant experience, the president declared, "I shall feel quite normal in all our dealings with one another."

CONTEST IN SEWING AND COOKING AT HIGH SCHOOL

Three Ribbons Are Given to First, Second and Third Grade Students—Judges Members of Domestic Science Round Table.

The girls of the freshmen and sophomore classes of the high school who are taking the domestic science course concluded a contest at the school Tuesday. The contest was the culmination of a series of bread lessons, including the study of the source and manufacture of leavening agents and practical work such as making of quick breads, cakes and yeast mixtures, and of studies in sewing.

Light Bread Contest.

In the light bread contest there were twenty-eight girls of the sophomore class who contested and the score card for judging the bread was as follows: Flavor, taste and odor, 45 points; texture of crum, lightness, doughiness, color and moisture, 40 points; texture of crust, color, hardness, 10 points; size and form, 5 points; making in all 100 points.

A blue ribbon was given to the girl for the best product in each contest, red for the second best and yellow for the third best product. The following were the winners:

Red ribbon—Myrtle Wilson.
Yellow ribbon—Mary Moxon.
Special mention should be made of the work of Mary Black and Marion Updegraff.

Biscuit Contest.

Fifty-one girls of the freshman class took part in the biscuit contest and the winners were as follows:

Blue ribbon—Margaret Pires.
Red ribbon—Dorothy Kimer.
Yellow ribbon—Elsie Moxon.
Special mention should be made of Anna Weber and Helen Stranberg.

Button Hole Contest.

In the button hole contest fifty-one girls of the freshmen class competed and the winners follow:

Blue ribbon—Corrine Piepenbring.
Red ribbon—Norma Dawson.
Yellow ribbon—Nettie Tendick.

The ladies acting as judges were Mrs. Elizabeth Stebbins, Mrs. Allan Baldwin and Mrs. Ann Van Houten, members of the Domestic Science Round Table and all especially gifted in the art of cookery. The judges were much perplexed in their different tasks of choosing the winners of the ribbons, as the girls had all done so well.

Miss Isabel C. Baldwin has charge of the food department and Miss Isabel Melick of the sewing department.

Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge was cabled to the New York Yacht club direct through the Royal Ulster Yacht club.

The building of a new Shamrock will commence immediately. Charles E. Nicholson, the yacht designer of Gosport, England, came to London today for a consultation with the challenger.

Fair Sample.

Mr. Follett and little Edward were sitting meekly in the corner where they had been placed by Mrs. Follett, well out of the way of her evening's work. Little Edward was reading the "History of the Town of Dorby" to his grandfather. He had reached a genealogical labyrinth.

"What does 'paternal grandmother' mean, grandpa?" he inquired, pausing for breath.

"You look up paternal in the dictionary, sonny," said Mr. Follett. And he shoved the book toward his grandson.

"It means 'fatherly,' 'like a father,'" read the boy. "I don't understand that, grandpa."

"Well, now, see here," said Mr. Follett hastily as his wife left the room for a moment, "it's like this, I reckon. The father's the head of the house so called and the same with a grandfather, but sometimes they're married to a kind of a masterful—well, I guess your grandma's what they'd call a paternal grandmother," Mr. Follett hastily finished as he heard brisk footsteps along the hall. "You get right on with your reading, boy."—Youth's Companion.

A Buoy's Long Voyage.

On Sept. 13, 1911, there was picked up on the beach at Cullivoe, Papastour, in the north of Scotland, a life buoy, battered and stained, bearing the inscription, "Passed by J. Guthrie, San Francisco, Cal. June 1, 1905."

The vessel Stanley Dollar was wrecked off the west coast of Japan in August, 1905, and the buoy, whose history is bound up with that of the ship, must have been floating in the ocean currents for six years until it landed in Scotland. Whether it went around the Horn or through the northwest passage or down by Australasia and around the Cape of Good Hope into the Atlantic will, of course, always remain a matter of doubt and conjecture. This buoy is said to hold the world's record for drifting the longest distance. It was six years on the way from the Pacific ocean to the Atlantic and must have been washed into many a strange port before it was picked up on the Scotch island.—Harper's Weekly.

The Horsehair Trick.

Almost every day illustrations are afforded of the marvelous ingenuity of the modern thief. Recently a couple of rogues nearly succeeded in extracting a valuable tie pin from the cravat of a man sitting between them in a music hall by means of an almost invisible horsehair stretching from the right hand of one thief to the left hand of his accomplice. The thieves by simultaneously raising their hands under the pretense of putting their pipes or cigarettes into their mouths tried, by pulling the horsehair taut, gradually to lift the victim's tie pin from its place. In this particular instance the trick was not successful, but it is often worked with advantage. If the pin falls to the ground unnoticed the thieves take the earliest opportunity of seizing it, or by a skillful manipulation of the horsehair the article may be made to slide down the almost invisible line right into the hand of one of the thieves.—London Tit-Bits.

Too Much Culture.

"Aunt Penelope Wiggins," as every body called her, was visited one summer by a niece, a Vassar college graduate. Aunt Penelope was one of the most hospitable souls alive, but she was not greatly impressed by the superior learning of her young relative, and one day she freed her mind about her thus: "Talk to me about what a college education does for a girl! What do you suppose Matilda said to me the first day she came? She said: 'I'm so glad to meet you, aunty! You accent your name on the Aunty Penultimate, don't you? Did you ever hear such nonsense? I had to tell her my name wasn't Aunty Penultimate, but Aunty Penelope, and I thought she would die a-laughing!'"

The Misfit Accoutrement.

A recently appointed second lieutenant in the army on his first public appearance at one of the president's receptions had some difficulty with his sword and tripped over it several times while he was in line, says an exchange. It got between his legs and dangled about in a most perplexing way. "Young man," said a military official in a most kindly manner, "that thing you are wearing is a sword, not a burdine."—Denver Republican.

Cautious Judge.

"Judge, why did you adjourn court for five minutes just now?"

"I felt that I had to sneeze."

"Yes?"

"And I feared if I sneezed on the bench the lawyers would make that the basis of a demand for a new trial."

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Result.

"Did the trip of the young heiress to Europe to secure a title in the matrimonial market succeed?"

"Yes, though, strange to say, it was a baron result."—Baltimore American.

Just Shopping.

Harry Durand who was arrested on the charge of arson for alleged complicity in the burning of the Gem theater a few weeks since is now at Passavant hospital. The monthly meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce was held Tuesday night. It is the purpose to arrange for an automobile sight seeing trip for all visitors.

The home is a substantial structure so not much harm is expected from the water.

A PECULIAR BLOSSOM.

At the Heintz greenhouse sometime since a bulb unplanted, began to send out a shoot which looked something like a cloth covered gas tube and soon it developed into a dark red lily shaped like a calla-lily and fringed with white at the stem. The plant is called arum dracunculoides and belongs to the calla-lily family.

CHARLES TOMLIN DIES AT HOME IN MISSOURI

Former Resident of Pleasant Plains and Widely Related in This Community Dies From Appendicitis.

Mrs. Frank Drury of Orleans received a telegram Tuesday announcing the death of her brother, Charles Tomlin, who passed away at the family residence in Linneus, Mo., Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Tomlin had not been ill long and his sudden death comes as a great shock to his many friends and relatives. Last Christmas he was visiting relatives in this community and appeared in his usual good health. He was a man highly esteemed for his upright life and splendid character. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tomlin and was born on the old homestead at Pleasant Plains, about 52 years ago. He married Miss Ella Silver of Ohio some 25 years ago and all their married life has been spent in Missouri. They had no children of their own, but several adopted children.

Mr. Tomlin is survived by his aged mother, three sisters, Mrs. Frank Drury of Orleans, Mrs. Sally Wittey of Pleasant Plains, and Mrs. Eva Sinclair of Ashland, also five brothers, Lee of Browning, Mo., T. Tomlin of Tallula, a prominent banker, Dr. P. B. Tomlin of Mason City, and Isaac and Jacob Tomlin of Pleasant Plains. Miss Vera Tomlin, a student at the Woman's college, is a niece of the deceased.

It is thought that the remains will be taken to his old home in Pleasant Plains, where funeral services will be held and burial made.

GAVE CHAPEL TALK.

At the regular chapel hour at the high school Tuesday morning President C. H. Rammelkamp of Illinois college gave a most helpful and inspiring address on the Building of Character. He used as illustrations various blanks which banking houses of Chicago, board of education and bond companies would ask to be filled out by prospective employees. How the young man or woman spent their time on Sundays, in the evenings, and the value they put upon themselves while in the high school would in a great measure tell the kind of a blank they would fill out when they came to seek positions of responsibility.

ACCEPTS CALL TO PASTORATE OF CHURCH IN AKRON, OHIO

Rev. Franklyn Cole Sherman Will Leave Chicago Church on May 1—Had Offer From Two Other Large Churches.

Rev. Franklyn Cole Sherman and wife of Chicago and two children are guests at the home of her parents, Judge and Mrs. M. T. Layman. Rev. Mr. Sherman has recently accepted a call to the pastorate of the St. Paul church at Akron, Ohio. This church is one of the oldest in Ohio, being founded in 1836. It is one of the most prosperous in that state and has over 600 communicants with property to the value of $150,000. The church is practically new and the parish home and rectory buildings are beautiful. The church is also free of debt. Rev. Mr. Sherman succeeds Rev. John Watson, D. D., now director of the American church at Paris. He had been connected with the Akron church for ten years and left five months ago.

Rev. Mr. Sherman had a call to two other churches, the St. George church of Kansas City and there would have succeeded Rev. Cyrus Townsend the noted novelist, or the St. Paul church at Des Moines, both the largest in their respective dioceses.

Rev. Mr. Sherman resigned a week ago last Friday from the Church of Epiphany in Chicago, a position he has held for two years. He is one of the educational secretaries of the Episcopal church of this country and he expects to go to St. Louis today to attend a meeting of the general board of Religious Education of the Episcopal church, at which time Sunday school topics will be discussed in the various churches.

Rev. Mr. Sherman will return to Jacksonville the last of next week and take with him his family to their new home in Akron.

PROFESSOR OLSON IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

Alleged Slayer of Clyde N. Darling is Found Not Guilty of Murder Charge.

St. Paul, Minn., April 8.—The jury in the case of Prof. Oscar M. Olson, formerly of the University of Minnesota Farm School, charged with the murder of Clyde N. Darling, alleged wrecker of the Olson home, returned a verdict of not guilty at 8:35 tonight.

The case was given to the jury shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon.

At 7:40 tonight the foreman announced that a verdict had been reached and Judge Orr was called from his home, arriving at the court room nearly an hour later. As the words "not guilty" fell from the lips of the foreman, Olson, who had been brought to the court room, attempted to rise, staggered and dropped back onto his seat. He recovered his self-composure and with tear-dimmed eyes shook hands with the jurors, the judge and the newspapermen.

"There is going to be a happy reunion at the Olson home tonight," was all Prof. Olson would say as he started for his home where his coming was being awaited by his wife and little daughter. Prof. Olson had not seen his daughter since his arrest the night of the murder.

INVEST GATE EXPLOSION IN ELGIN CITIZEN'S RESIDENCE

Gunpowder Explodes in Home of D. E. Wood, Fatally Injuring a Maid—House Had Been Burglarized Recently.

Elgin, Ill., April 8.—Policemen are investigating a mysterious explosion today in the home of D. E. Wood, one of Elgin's wealthiest citizens. The accident resulted in the serious and possibly fatally injury of Miss Anna Peterson, a maid.

Black gunpowder believed to have been part of a bomb, was found in a waste basket, which Miss Peterson emptied into a stove.

The Wood home was entered recently but the supposed burglars took nothing of value. Mr. Wood is president of the Elgin National bank and the Creamery Package Manufacturing company. Recently two employees of the Elgin National bank were indicted by the federal grand jury in Chicago.

A month ago, Mr. Wood brought suit against three directors of the bank to recover $10,000 from each.

Cough Medicine For Children. Too much care cannot be used in selecting a cough medicine for children. It should be pleasant to take, contain no harmful substance and be most effective. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets these requirements and is a favorite with the mothers of young children everywhere.

FIGHTS AGAINST HER BABIES

Children, Two, Three and Four Years Old, Are Kept at Cradle Age by Mother.

Cleveland, Ohio.—In a little kitchen at her home, Mrs. Mood Thol has battled with nature for years secretly in an effort to keep time from touching her babies.

Around her feet crept three children, two, three and four years old. Victims of a strange code her ingenuity devised to prevent them advancing beyond the cradle, they laughed, kicked their feet and waved their hands as she crooned over them.

The eldest boy did not creep faster or with greater ease than the younger ones. He mumbled incoherently, and tugged at his mother's dress and slobbered over a little bib, when she tickled him beneath the chin. He is barely larger than a child of two years and apparently has not advanced intellectually beyond the cradle.

To further defeat their development, the mother has never fed them anything except baby food. What lay beyond the door, through which a stranger never passed, they had no idea.

Neighbors say the woman never took her children away from home. Occasionally in the hot summer, they say, she would wheel them away in the darkness, but always guarding them closely from the gaze of any persons.

"She has a strange desire to always keep them babies," Deputy Sheriff Sobczak said. "The four-year-old boy cannot talk or walk. He is not as large as an ordinary youngster of eighteen months old."

Several days ago William James, clerk of the probate court, discovered the plight of the children and investigated. He continued the investigation until he made sure the children were not imbeciles.

James and Sobczak went to the house, arrested the woman and took her to the City hospital. The children will be placed in an infant institution.

MAKES MASTER SAVE HIM

Dog Clings to Boy's Coat by His Teeth When Both Fall Into the River.

New York.—Arthur Johnson, seven years old, was thrown from the deck of the barge Lima, of which his father is captain, when a lighter hit the barge as it was entering Pier 57, North river. His fox terrier, which stood beside the boy, was also knocked into the water by the collision.

Louis Johnson, head stevedore of the French line, and his assistant, Harry Smith, who had been standing on the stringpiece of the pier, saw the boy fall into the water and disappear, while the terrier swam over the place where he had sunk. Johnson took hold of Smith by the feet and let him down from the pier near the place where the boy had gone down. As Smith was waiting to seize the boy when he should reappear, his head came near the end of the pier, showing that the boy was rapidly floating away.

The two men ran to the end of the pier, and as they did so a tugboat arrived with Capt. William Johnson, father of the drowning boy, on deck. He threw a rope to the two men at the end of the pier. When the boy rose for the third time he was between the tugboat and the pier. The boy threw his arm over the rope and so worked his way to the pier. The little dog, which had been swimming from the side of the tug to the pier without being able to land, made his way to the boy and clung to his coat with his teeth. When the two got to the pier they were quickly lifted to safety.

GIRL ROBS IN MALE ATTIRE

Young Woman Arrested as Burglar Says Man Induced Her to Commit Crime.

Danbury, Conn.—Disguised in male attire, Amy Travers, a pretty 22-year-old girl, entered the apartments of George Trumbley shortly after midnight and stole $22 from the pocket of Mr. Trumbley, who was asleep in the room.

The girl, who had never been arrested before, accused George Smith of having induced her to commit the crime. Smith has a criminal record in Connecticut cities. The girl said she retained only $1 of the stolen money, giving the remainder to Smith. The man denied this, but the police found the money in his shoes.

Miss Travers was released on bonds furnished by a relative. She will be arraigned in the police court Monday. Detectives who have been investigating a series of burglaries arrested the girl at her home this afternoon.

She said Smith furnished her with the clothing she wore when she visited Trumbley's apartments. She denied having participated in any other burglaries.

Death Betrays Ex-Convict.

Denton, Tex.—The death of John Ellis, for 35 years a resident of this city, resulted in the revelation that Ellis was really Joseph G. Addison, who was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in Buchanan county, Ga., in 1873, and escaped after serving three years of a 15-year sentence. Five years ago Ellis told his story to a friend with the request that it be given to the world after his death.

State Bar Association Meets.

Reform in procedure in court of record of the state furnished a topic of unlimited discussion at the meeting of the Illinois State Bar association today. The delegates went on record for a simplified code for practice and less delay in the trial of cases. A number of amendments submitted by a committee to the senate bill dealing with court procedure were favored. The officers of the organization will be elected at a meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon.

PEORIA PAINTERS STRIKE FOR FIVE CENT INCREASE IN WAGE SCALE

Practically Every Shop in Peoria is Affected and Tie-up Threatens to Be Disastrous to Spring Improvement Work.

Peoria, Ill., April 8.—Two hundred union and non-union painters employed in Peoria shops walked out today following the employers' refusal to accede to the union's demand for an increase in the wage scale from 45 cents an hour to 50 cents with an eight hour working day. Practically every shop in the city is affected and unless a settlement is reached in the near future the tie-up threatens to be disastrous to hundreds of contemplated improvements in the way of painting in Peoria this spring.

Tuesday was the day for holding primaries for the nomination of county commissioners. Of course, you proudly availed yourself of the privilege.

A new gas and electric lighting company is asking a franchise of the city commission at Springfield. The company pledges lower rates to all consumers than now given by the utilities company.

Sullivanites are boasting that they are to get all the good jobs. What leads the State Register to remark that it "Still has hopes that most of the places will go to genuine Democrats," which faction is the genuine article?

The Chicago Post claims that Colonel John L. Clem of the quarter-master's department is the only veteran of the civil war still wearing the uniform of the regulars on active duty. The service has profited through the experience of these men. Their passing marks an epoch in our life as a nation.

The Canadian Pacific railroad proposes to construct a tunnel 14 miles in length through the crest of the Rockies at Kicking Horse pass. It will be four miles longer than the Simplon tunnel through the Alps. The cost will be about a million dollars per mile. Such courageous enterprises express the daring spirit of the age.

It is claimed that J. Pierpont Morgan controlled finance because he was a booster. He believed in the resources of the country and furnished the money to develop same. That is why his ventures were so profitable. It is said to his credit that he was a builder. It was Morgan the people went to for money when they wanted to start a new enterprise of large proportions. His was the policy of industrial expansion, and as the leader of that propaganda he acquired his power over men who had money to advance. Let that point, that he was "a booster" be impressed on the minds of some of our own people to "boost" as Morgan did, yet in a small way we can all accomplish more of good by boosting than by knocking.

The importance of the coming election to decide the question of issuing bonds to secure funds needed in the improvement and increase in our electric lighting facilities, is being recognized by many, as not only a question of a much needed improvement, but as one involving wider and greater interest—the general welfare and reputation of Jacksonville. It is one of vital interest that we get together on some plan in internal development, that we cease the bickering and quibbling and distrust that has been so disastrous. It has practically stopped all public work. A few years ago Jacksonville was known as a progressive city. We boasted of our twenty-five miles of street paving, of a spirit hopeful, and were showing that Jacksonville could accomplish things.

Take one street—Prairie. Repeated efforts have been made to secure pavement there. A majority of the property owners seemed to favor it. But just as soon as the board have taken the initiatory steps, parties, sometimes of the minority who oppose paving, have started division as to the material to be used—wooden blocks, or asphalt, or brick—and in every case the attempt to improve has been abortive—the majority in favor of paving have been defeated because of some quibble or technicality until the time has come when it will be a great hardship to secure the improvement on that street, because of the great accumulation of costs charged up to the property. Every failure, and there have been three or four, has cost a goodly sum and when it is all charged up to the pavement on Prairie street will make the price greater than on any other thoroughfare in the city, because of quibbling, started to defeat, but involving many innocents who really desired the work.

Do you want this policy continued? Do you want a repetition of failure? A dozen schemes have been advanced whereby it is claimed, the electric light plant may be rehabilitated, or even advancing the idea that we abandon municipal ownership and again place ourselves in the power of private corporations. These are only schemes to divide the sentiment of the majority and to defeat a measure that means advancement, instead of a long step backward.

The enormous amount asked by the various state department, boards and commissions, running up to nearly $40,000,000 for maintenance for the next few years, in view of the campaign made by Governor Dunne advocating greater economy must cause people to gasp. The appropriations for two years ago totaled nearly $30,000,000, but now comes up a request for an additional of nearly $10,000,000, with two departments, state factory inspector and lieutenant governor's office, to hear from Governor Dunne will have to pare the requests down with a sharp and deep cutting knife or the people will get a big increase in their taxes.

Nature's Way.

Yawning may be rude—especially in company—but it is a good thing for you to do. For one thing, it ventilates the lungs. When you take an ordinary breath the lungs are not completely filled, nor are they thoroughly emptied by an ordinary respiration. There is a certain quantity of air left in the lungs always, which physiologists call "residual air."

This air in time becomes foul and affects the blood, and, through the blood, the nervous centers. Certain nerves get tickled, as it were, and the result is a yawn, stretching the lungs to their fullest extent, filling them with clean, fresh air and driving the foul air out.

That's one reason why it is good to yawn. For another, yawning opens and stretches and ventilates all the various passages leading to the lungs. You will perhaps be surprised to know that yawning is even beneficial to your hearing.

The cracking sound which you so often hear when giving an extra big yawn is due to the stretching and opening of the Eustachian tubes. These tubes communicate between the ear and the back of the throat. If they are congested, which happens when you have a bad cold in the head, people complain of deafness.

If you feel inclined to yawn then do so. It is nature's way of cleaning out your lungs and air passages.

MAN AND BEAR IN TREE.

An Incident of the Recent Flood in Indiana.

And now comes a story of the flood in Indiana which has a touch of humor in it. C. A. Ward, a salesman for a Chicago jewelry firm, was here on business with Russell & Lyon recently and told of an incident back at his old home in Peru. The rising water surrounded the home of one resident in such a way that after the second day it was determined to move out. A boat was sent for and when the man's wife and children and some belongings had been placed in the boat there was no room left for him. So it was arranged that he would wait for a second coming of the boat. Time passed and the boat did not come. The water kept rising and as the anxious watcher looked out of a back window he saw his barn begin to totter and then to float toward the house. He felt that the collision of barn and house would knock the house off the foundation and so quickly ascending to the roof managed to get hold of the limb of a big tree and pull himself up to a place of safety. However, he did not long feel safe for after he had been there an hour imagine his horror on seeing a great black bear come swimming along. The bear made straight for the tree and was soon occupying a big limb below the man who had quickly climbed to a higher point. The bear saw his companion but made no effort to get to him, both seeming to have but one idea, and that escape from watery graves. The man shouted himself hoarse, the bear growled and gave out cries of alarm, but it was twenty-two hours before they were finally taken off in a boat. The bear was on the lower limb and was reached by the rescuers first for the animal was tame and harmless, and belonged to the Wallace-Hagenback shows.

SHORT MESSAGE STICKS TO TARIFF

President Wilson Advises the Extra Session.

URGENT NEED OF REFORMS

Chief Executive Says Recent Elections Laid a Duty Upon the Democratic Party, Which Must Lighten the Burden of the People—Says It Would Be Unwise to Move Forward Headlong or With Reckless Haste; That Business Must Be Encouraged, Not Destroyed, but That Everything That Has a Semblance of Privilege Must Be Abolished—Promises Special Message Dealing With Needed Banking and Currency Laws.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have called the congress together in extraordinary session because a duty was laid upon the party now in power at the recent elections which it ought to perform promptly in order that the burden carried by the people under existing law may be lightened as soon as possible and in order, also, that the business interests of the country may not be kept too long in suspense as to what the fiscal changes

© by American Press Association.

PRESIDENT WILSON.

are to be to which they will be required to adjust themselves. It is clear to the whole country that the tariff duties must be altered. They must be changed to meet the radical alteration in the conditions of our economic life which the country has witnessed within the last generation. While the whole face and method of our industrial and commercial life were being changed beyond recognition the tariff schedules have remained what they were before the change began or have moved in the direction they were given when no large circumstance of our industrial development was what it is today. Our task is to square them with the actual facts. The sooner that is done the sooner we shall escape from suffering from the facts and the sooner our men of business will be free to thrive by the law of nature (the nature of free business instead of by the law of legislation and artificial arrangement).

How Tariff Has Grown.

We have seen tariff legislation wander very far indeed in our day—very far indeed from the field in which our prosperity might have had a normal growth and stimulation. No one who looks the facts squarely in the face or knows anything that lies beneath the surface of action can fail to perceive the principles upon which recent tariff legislation has been based. We long ago passed beyond the modest notion of "protecting" the industries of the country and moved boldly forward to the idea that they were entitled to the direct patronage of the government.

For a long time—a time so long that the men now active in public policy hardly remember the conditions that preceded it—we have sought in our tariff schedules to give each group of manufacturers or producers what they themselves thought that they needed in order to maintain a practically exclusive market as against the rest of the world. Consciously or unconsciously we have built up a set of privileges and exemptions from competition behind which it was easy by any, even the crudest, forms of combination to organize monopoly, until at last nothing is normal, nothing is obliged to stand the tests of efficiency and economy, in our world of big business, but everything thrives by concerted arrangement. Only new principles of action will save us from a final hard crystallization of monopoly and a complete loss of the influences that quicken enterprise and keep independent energy alive.

Must Abolish Privilege.

It is plain what those principles must be. We must abolish everything that bears even the semblance of privilege or of any kind of artificial advantage and put our business men and producers under the stimulation of a constant necessity to be efficient, economical and enterprising, masters of competitive supremacy, better workers and merchants than any in the world. Aside from the duties laid upon articles which we do not and probably cannot produce, therefore, and the duties laid upon luxuries and merely for the sake of the revenues they yield, the object of the tariff duties henceforth laid must be effective competition, the whetting of American wits by contest with the wits of the rest of the world.

It would be unwise to move toward this end headlong, with reckless haste or with strokes that cut at the very roots of what has grown up among us by long process and at our own invitation. It does not alter a thing to upset it and break it and deprive it of a chance to change. It destroys it. We must make changes in our fiscal laws. In our fiscal system, whose object is development, a more free and wholesome development, not revolution or upset or confusion. We must build up trade, especially foreign trade. We need the outlet and the enlarged field of energy more than we ever did before. We must build up industry as well and must adopt freedom in the place of artificial stimulation only so far as it will build, not pull down. In dealing with the tariff the method by which this may be done will be a matter of judgment, exercised item by item. To some not accustomed to the excitements and responsibilities of greater freedom our methods may in some respects and at some points seem heroic, but remedies may be heroic and yet be remedies. It is our business to make sure that they are genuine remedies. Our object is clear. If our motive is above just challenge and only an occasional error of judgment is chargeable against us we shall be fortunate.

Thorough, but Moderate.

We are called upon to render the country a great service in more matters than one. Our responsibility should be met, and our methods should be thorough, as thorough as moderate and well considered, based upon the facts as they are, and not worked out as if we were beginners. We are to deal with the facts of our own day, with the facts of no other, and to make laws which square with those facts. It is best—indeed, it is necessary—to begin with the tariff. I will urge nothing upon you now at the opening of your session which can obscure that first object or divert our energies from that clearly defined duty. At a later time I may take the liberty of calling your attention to reforms which should press close upon the heels of the tariff changes, if not accompany them, of which the chief is the reform of our banking and currency laws, but just now I refrain. For the present I put these matters on one side and think only of this one thing—the changes in our fiscal system which may best serve to open once more the free channels of prosperity to a great people whom we would serve to the utmost and throughout both rank and file.

WOODROW WILSON.

The White House, April 8, 1913.

INTEREST IN THE SESSION.

For the First Time in Many Years Democrats Control.

Elements in the extra session of congress are unusual. President Wilson has called the great body together at a time when his party has absolute control of every branch of the government relating to legislation.

This has not been the case before in twenty years. During that period of long ago when the Democrats were in power President Cleveland called an extra session, but the conditions were vastly different from now.

The extra session under President Wilson is remarkable because the lawmakers to a large extent are men of comparatively recent rise to prominence. Because of the fact that the Democratic party is providing a change from Republican rule for the first time in sixteen years great interest is centered upon the doings of congress.

Virtually a new generation of legislators has sprung up. With but a very few exceptions there are no men who figured in congressional doings of twenty years ago who are sharing the responsibilities of the body now.

Of only one thing has the public been absolutely certain, and that is that the tariff would be first and foremost among the subjects for work by the legislators, and that revision downward would be the purpose. The legislators themselves have not known just how the revision is to be managed, and it has been well understood that they would not all be pleased over all the details of the ultimate changes. The subject has been thrashed over so often and earnestly that its intricacies have become feared.

The ways and means committee, which has had the task of drafting the tentative form of the new tariff measure, has been unable to announce completion of its work in advance of the extra session, but the probability is that the measure will be taken up by schedule by schedule.

The public has been led to expect that after the tariff is disposed of congress will consider currency, the income tax, Philippine independence and the Panama toll questions.

Much publicity has been given to the proposed national income tax. The tax will probably apply only to incomes of over $5,000 annually. Certain members of congress hold that this sort of levy would be confined to but a comparatively small proportion of the public and that the revenue would not be sufficient. They argue that an inheritance tax should be added to insure the needed revenue.

SOFTNESS OF SEALS KIN.

Is Ruined by Human Hair Where Dandruff Is Eradicated.

Seal skin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy in healthy condition. The radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's eridole is the only preparation that is able to reach the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is seen. Newbro's eridole won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by drug druggists. Send 10c. in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Dept. 100, New York, N. Y.

Mother's Friend in Every Home

Comfort and Safety Assured Before the Arrival of the Storm.

The old saying—what is home without a mother—should add "Mother's Friend." In thousands of American homes there is a bottle of this splendid and famous remedy that has aided many a woman through the trying ordeal, saved her from suffering and pain, kept her in health of mind and body in advance of baby's coming and had a most wonderful influence in developing a healthy, lovely disposition in the child.

There is no other remedy so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes plant those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding and soothes the inflammation of breast glands.

Mother's Friend is an external remedy, acts quickly and not only banishes all distress in advance, but assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother. Thus she becomes a healthy woman with all her strength preserved. So thoroughly effective the remedy of her child. Mother's Friend can be had at any drug store at $1.00 a bottle, and is really one of the greatest blessings ever discovered for expectant mothers. Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 123 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their free book. Write to-day. It is most instructive.

There is a wealth of instruction and comfort to be derived in reading this little book. It is plainly written, just what every woman wants to know, and will be a splendid little textbook for guidance, not only for yourself, but will make you helpful to others. And, in the meantime, do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store, and thus fortify yourself against any and all pain and discomfort.

BABY IN GREAT MISERY WITH RASH

On Face, Spread Until Nearly All Over Body, Crust on Head. Hair Fell Out, Itch Terrible. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Monroe, Wis.—"When my baby was six weeks old there came a rash on his face which finally spread until it got nearly all over his body. It formed a crust on his head, hair fell out and the itch was terrible. When he would scratch the crust the water would ooze out in big drops. On face and body it was in a dry form and would scale off. He was in great misery and at night I would lay awake holding his hands so that he could not scratch and disfigure himself. I tried simple remedies at first, but got medicine, but it did no good. Finally a friend suggested Cuticura Remedies, so I sent for a sample to see what they would do, when to my surprise after a few applications I could see an improvement, and he would rest better. I bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap and before I had them half used my baby was cured. His head is now covered with a luxuriant growth of hair and his complexion is admired by everybody and has no disfigurements. I hope other mothers will profit by my experience and not be worn out with poor babies who are tortured with skin and scalp affections." (Signed) Mrs. Annie Saunders, Sept. 29, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for poor complexion, red, rough hands and dry, thin and falling hair, and cost so little that it is almost criminal not to use them. Sold by dealers throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 22-p. book on the skin and scalp. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

For tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

Monte Carlo Robbers.

"They are greater robbers at Monte Carlo," said a traveler, speaking of high charges, "than anywhere in the world. The German tourist is sneered at in Monte Carlo because when he enters a barber shop he always asks what the charge is to be before he sits down in the chair. But what is a man to do in barber shops, where it is no uncommon thing to be charged $2 or $3 for the simplest operation?"

"And it's the same thing in the hotels. I knew a man who took a suit at a Monte Carlo hotel without asking the price of anything—and in the restaurants of such hotels it's a common thing to find no prices even on the menus. Well, when this man came to pay his bill it was enormous. But he paid it. Then he said:

"Have you any twenty-five centime stamps?"

"Yes, monsieur," said the clerk.

"How many do you wish?"

"My friend smiled blandly.

"Tell me first, please," he said, "what you charge for them here?"

A Wonderful Gun.

Since the introduction of gunpowder as a propellant and the general use of firearms in warfare and hunting there has been a more or less insistent demand for mechanisms that would give the soldier or hunter a number of shots at his command without reloading and enable them to be rapidly discharged. The first patent for a firearm of this description seems to have been issued by the British patent office in 1718 to James Puckle, a citizen of London, for a gun mounted upon a tripod, having a single barrel and a revolving cylinder. Strangely enough, one of the claims set forth in this patent appears almost verbatim 135 years later in a patent taken out by Rollin White, an American inventor of a revolving pistol. Another curious claim of the patent was: "The mechanism permits the use of square bullets against the Turk and round bullets against Christians. Moreover, so great is the rapidity of fire that ships armed with the gun cannot be boarded by any attacking force."—S. J. Fort in Outing.

The Unicorn.

The unicorn was one of the fabled monsters of antiquity. It was, according to a summary of the opinions of several of the old time writers, a beast about the size of a common horse, but with very short legs. The people of the middle ages believed in the existence of three kinds of unicorns—the magnificent white unicorn, which had a purple face and blue eyes and a single horn a yard in length; the egls serif, which resembled a gigantic deer and had a very sharp horn growing from the middle of the forehead, and the monoceros, or common unicorn. The white unicorn's horn was of three different colors—white at the lower part, black as ebony in the middle and red at the point. Common unicorns were said to have had horns about eighteen inches in length, but so strong that they could easily kill an elephant.

"Man of Straw."

The phrase "a man of straw" had its origin in England at a time when men might easily be procured to furnish evidence upon oath in almost any emergency. It appears that persons of this description were accustomed to walk openly in Westminster hall with a straw projecting from their shoes, thus signifying that they sought employment as witnesses; hence the expression.

An advocate who desired a convenient witness knew by this sign where to find one, and the colloquy between the two was brief.

"Don't you remember?" the advocate would ask. The party would glance at the fee and give no sign, but when the fee was increased his powers of memory increased with it, and straw shoes went into court and swore as desired.—Boston Herald.

Hopelessly Tangled.

"Well, well," he mused, "what does this mean? My fiancée's name on a wedding invitation! The faithless hus sy! And great Logarithms! There's my name on it too. Either she's untrue or I'm about to be a bigamist."—Exchange.

ANAEMIC PEOPLE

Need More Iron in the Blood.

If you are anaemic, you need more iron in your blood, and the tell tale symptoms are a pale face—colorless lips, ashen finger nails, poor circulation, and short breath, and more serious diseases are easily contracted when in this condition.

What I did for Mrs. G. S. Manuel, of San Antonio, Texas, it will do for every anaemic run-down person. She says: "I was weak and nervous and had general debility for about three years. My health was badly run down and my complexion became sallow and badly affected with pimples. While in this weakened condition, I contracted pleurisy, which made it very hard for me. I am happy to say that Vinol has restored me to health again, and I have no cough or soreness of the lungs at all."

We ask every anaemic or run-down, weak person in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim. Lee P. Alcott, Jacksonville, Ill.

STOCK MARKET SHOWS STRENGTH

TRADING ENDS WITH A NUMBER OF SUBSTANTIAL ADVANCES.

President's Message Had Comparatively Little Effect Upon the Market—Reading and Copper Stocks Were Especially Strong.

(By Associated Press)
New York, April 8.—After pursuing an uncertain course, with prices first above and then below yesterday's closing range, the stock market developed strength today, and trading ended with a number of substantial advances. Fluctuations seemed to be chiefly the reflection of activity on the part of the professional traders who found it about as difficult to move stocks in one direction as the other. Evidence of underlying strength were not lacking, but operators on both sides of the market were unable to attract a following.

Of the various influences brought to bear upon the market today the president's message received first attention, but its effect upon the market was comparatively small. At the time of its delivery the list sold off sharply, but the movement was short-lived and had the appearance of a bear drive, carefully timed to the hour of publication of the message. The market grew dull.

Renewed confidence was exhibited in the upward movement of the last hour and best prices of the day were attained. Reading and the copper stocks were especially strong.

The highly favorable character of the government report on winter wheat was a factor in bringing about the final upturn, although its influence was minimized by the fact that an excellent showing had been confidentially expected. The same was true of the copper producers' figures, the March decrease of 18,000,000 pounds being in line with predictions.

NOTED CHURCHMEN

AT UNVEILING.
Hattiesburg, Miss., April 8.—In Trinity church in this city there was unveiled this afternoon a costly memorial window, believed to be the only tribute of the church in America to the venerable society for the propagation of the gospel. The society, which has its headquarters in London, is one of the oldest Protestant missionary organizations in the world.

The unveiling was accompanied by impressive ceremonies attended by many eminent representatives of the Episcopal church gathered here for the annual council meeting of the Episcopal diocese. The Rev. Dr. Simpson-Armstrong, rector of Trinity church, presided at the exercises and the Rt. Rev. Theodore DuBois Bratton, bishop of Mississippi, performed the unveiling ceremony. The Rt. Rev. Edwin G. Weed, bishop of Florida, preached the sermon. The memorial was accepted in behalf of the society for the propagation of the gospel by a representative of Bishop Courtney of New York, who is the only vice president of the society in the United States.

The design of the window is "Christ the Sower." The forty bishops of the Episcopal church in America, together with the late J. Pierpont Morgan and other leading laymen, contributed to the fund for its purchase. From the other side of the Atlantic contributions were received from the Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, the lord bishop of Southwell, the archdeacon of Nottingham and a number of others. A message of greeting from his grace the archbishop of Canterbury was read at the unveiling.

WILL INSPECT DAIRY HERDS.
Truman Gibson left recently for a trip north and east where he will visit a number of fine registered Jersey herds at different points in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut. He will return home about April 20 with two fine cows which his father, R. Y. Gibson purchased of H. Prescott of Rockville, Conn. One of these cows won the grand championship of 1912 and the other won fourth place at the greatest Jersey show in America.

PUBLICATION OF REPORT SLUMPS WHEAT PRICE

REPORT GIVES PROMISE OF GREATEST WHEAT CROP ON RECORD.

Belief That Government Report Would Show Wheat Condition to be at Least 90 Per Cent Was Entertained Before the Report Came Out.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, April 8.—Wheat took a sharp drop today on publication of the government report giving promise of greatest wheat crop on record and placing the average condition of winter wheat April 1 at 91.6 per cent, compared with 80.6 a year ago. At the close prices showed a net decline of 1 cent to 1 1/2c. Corn finished 1/2c to 3/4c net lower, oats were off 1/4c to 1/2c and provisions ranged from 20c lower to 2 1/2c higher. Belief that the government report would show wheat conditions to be at least 90 per cent and that it possibly would be as good as 93 per cent, was entertained before the report came out. This caused early selling that carried wheat prices down 3/4c to 1c in the first hour. A rally took place on buying based on strong foreign markets, but it was short-lived for when the government's report came out, showing a condition of winter wheat that means a probable crop of 556,000,000 on a basis of nineteen bushels per acre, as against a crop of 400,000,000 harvested last year, prices steadily declined. At the close quotations were only a shade above the low point of the day, the easing off of prices having been aided by reports of good rains in the wheat country that seemed to add to the prospects of a record crop held out by the government's figures.

Corn lacked support nearly all day. After one or two feeble rallies it closed at the low point of the session, partly in sympathy with wheat. Oats followed the downward course of other grains.

Provisions were quiet all day and at the close all prices showed declines except September lard, which under some late buying made an advance of a bare 2c.

MARKET LETTERS.

Chicago, April 8.—Oliver S. Green, with Walter Bros., U. S. Yards, Chicago, reports the receipt for Monday, April 7:

Cattle—428,000.
Hogs—42,000.
Sheep—23,000.

The strong and higher cattle market last week caused a liberal run today and a reaction followed. Bulk 10 to 15c lower. Top, $9.20 for fancy 1400 pound Herefords, but few above 5c. The $8.50 to $8.70 kind the slowest sellers and some such classed 20c lower. Cheap kinds least cut. Bulk of handy weights as well as plainer 1300 to 1400 kinds, $8.30 to $8.60, and no liberal supply of the corn kinds, $7.25 to $8.00.

Butcher stock held about steady. Canners weak. Bulls strong. Calves weak to 25c lower. Good demand for feeders at firm prices.

Fat cows, $5.90 to $8.00; fancy shaded more.

Heifers, $5.00 to $8.60.

Bulls, $5.75 to $7.50; fancy light, $7.50 to $7.75.

Calves, $4.50 to $8.00 for common heavy to good veals.

Choice to prime veals, $8.25 to $8.50.

Common stockers to good feeders, $6.00 to $7.75.

Choice selected, $7.90 to $8.25.

Early hog market strong to 5c higher. Weakened and gain was lost on later market. Mixed packing, $8.70 to $9.02 1/2. Medium butchers, $9.02 to $9.10. Poor to good heavy packing, $8.65 to $8.92 1/2. Rough heavy packing, $8.35 to $8.60. Select packing and shipping, $8.95 to $9.40. Weights ones, $9.20 to $9.40; 160 to 225 pounds, with the light ones of this class the high sellers. Sheep and lambs steady to 10c higher and some choice kinds 15 to 25c higher. Top lambs, $9.10. Native ewes, $4.50 to $7.00. Shorn western wethers, $5.00 to $6.60. Native lambs, $7.00 to $8.75. Shorn western lambs, $5.50 to $8.10. Colorado lambs, $8.00 to $9.10.

Kansas City Market.

Kansas City Stock Yards, April 8.—Purchases of stock cattle and feeders her last week for shipment to country totals aggregated 8,000 head, 3,000 decrease from the previous week, and about the same number as corresponding week a year ago. The reduction from the preceding week was due to smaller supplies and keener bidding by killers. There was some competition between country buyers and the packers for fleshly steers. Kansas, Missouri and Illinois farmers as well as Iowa men sold $8.00 to $8.30 for steers to feed. The purchasers of these steers seemed to consider them a better proposition for a short feed than steers of the thin class for a longer feed, and bought accordingly. Next to these came the demand for cows and heifers of stock grades and the extreme light weight class of stock steers. The steady demand for stock cows and heifers shows the desire to breed up and raise some cattle on the corn belt farms. There is some buying for summer pastures. Kansas purchasers of 900 steers here last week said: "We expect to feed these steers a little grain till grass comes, then grass them till fall and then sell them." Receipts here today are 8,000 cattle, same as last Monday, prices steady with a weak tendency. Stock steers range largely from $7.00 to $8.00, feeders up to $8.25, against $6.50 to $6.75 a year ago for the best cattle for the country. Top native steers today brought $8.75, bulk $7.75 to $8.50, quarantine steers $6.75 to $8.00, including grass steers from South Texas, which class of cattle is starting to run, at $6.75 to $7.40, sugar mill steers, $8.00 to $8.45, cows, $5.75 to $7.25, heifers $6.50 to $8.25, bulls $5.75 to $7.25, calves $6.00 to $9.00.

Notions as to "Lost Arts."
Current tradition credits the ancients with many "lost arts." It is still common to hear people say that means unknown to us must have been employed to erect the pyramids, that the Damascus blade is beyond the power of modern cutlers and that the art of hardening copper died with some little brown Aztec.

In point of fact, larger stones than any found in the pyramids have been quarried in Maine, carried across the sea and erected in buildings in England and France. If any one cared to pay the cost there are plenty of contractors who would build a replica of the largest pyramid and would not take so very long about it.

It is doubtful whether a "Damascus blade" will stand as much as a good modern hand saw or the spring of a cheap clock.

Copper can be hardened by modern methods to equal any specimen that has been left to us by the ancients. Many arts that are supposed to be lost are simply abandoned because there is no modern need of cultivating them, and others are not even abandoned, but employed every day and improved upon.—New York Tribune.

Old English Press Gangs.

In the past the news of a shortage of men in the navy and the hint of action by the admiralty would have put the merchantman on guard. Toward the end of the eighteenth century, for instance, there was a call for sailors for the navy, and "persuasion" was the rule. "The press in the Thames for the last three days has been very severe. Five or six hundred seamen have been laid hold of." Thus runs one of many entries in the papers of the period. It was not always peaceful "pressing," as this item in the Times of 1705 will prove: "There was a very hot press on the river Friday night last, when several hundred able seamen were procured. One of the gangs in boarding a Liverpool trader was resisted by the crew, when a desperate affray took place, in which many of the former were thrown overboard, and a lieutenant who boarded them was killed by a shot from the vessel."—London Chronicle.

A Bit of Kitchener's Tact.

The Egyptian Bedouin is not compelled to pay taxes or to render the ordinary obligations of citizenship, which in Egypt includes military service. Soon after the outbreak of the war between Turkey and Italy a delegation of Bedouins approached General Kitchener and told him that they wanted to go across the border to the assistance of their hard pressed fellows in Tripoli. The English general admitted with unexpected readiness that their request was reasonable, but he reminded them that by granting it he would be creating a precedent which would make them liable for military service with the Egyptian army.

The delegation withdrew, and Kitchener was not troubled any more with requests for leave to cross the border.

Scotsmen and Funerals.

Englishmen, says Ian Maclaren in "Books and Bookmen," bear themselves well at marriages, where Scotsmen are at a disadvantage because the cautious Scotch eye is focused upon an uncertain future. But the Scotsman shines at a funeral as one of the luxuries of life: "Peter," says one mourner to his neighbor at the tail of a walking funeral, "div ye see Jamie Thompson walking in the front side by side with the chief mourner and him no a drop o' blood to the corpse?" "Fine I see him, a forward, upsettin', ambitious body. He would be inside the hearse if he could"—the most awful and therefore most enviable position for a sober minded Scot.

The House of Romanoff.

The house of Romanoff passed out of existence with the death of its last survivor, Empress Elizabeth, daughter of Peter the Great, who was succeeded as ruler of Russia by her nephew, Peter of Oldenburg, duke of Holstein-Gottorp, son of her younger sister, Grand Duchess Anna. It is from this czar, who reigned as Peter III., that the whole of the reigning house of Russia are descended, and they are, therefore, not Romanoffs, but Oldenburgs.

Paid Her a Compliment.

Dr. Johnson never had a reputation for paying compliments, but it is related that once when Mrs. Siddons, the great actress, called on him in Bolt court and the servant did not readily bring her a chair he said, "You see, madam, wherever you go there are not seats to be had!"

The Two Sides.

"There are two sides to every argument," said the ready made philosopher. "Yes," replied the gloomy person, "but it makes a difference which side you choose. There are two sides to a piece of ty paper."—Washington Star.

Nicely Fitting.

"It was a very appropriate birthday present our young friend, the lawyer, got, wasn't it?" "What was the present?" "A new suit."—Exchange.

Reticence.

Cautiously avoid talking of the domestic affairs of yourself or of other people. Yours are nothing to them but tedious gossip. There's nothing to you.—Lord Chesterfield.

Yes.

Whenever you find a man who is a failure you will also find a patient little woman making his excuses to the world.—New Orleans Picayune.

First Night Critics.
In an article in the American Magazine, Walter Prichard Eaton writes: "The theater door man is an important person on first nights, because as he passes out return checks between acts he hears the comments of the audience. His ears are wide open on such occasions, and, mingling with the crowd in the lobby, are other attaches of the theater, all seeking to overhear the comments, and all rushing to report to the manager. Not long ago the last act of a play in New York was entirely changed after the opening night solely because the women in the audience, as they left the house, were nearly all complaining of the tragic finish. When a piece hangs in the balance between success and failure, when 'inkering' can perhaps turn the scale, these frank comments overheard in the lobby are of great importance to author and manager. In other cases they are a barometer of success or failure, though the ultimate test, of course, is the subtle attitude of the audience in the auditorium, its spontaneous enthusiasm or its coldness and signs of boredom."

A Household Maneuver.
"And what," asked the caller after he had been shown all over Mr. Bobbs' new house, "is that pretty little article hanging over the piano?"
"Don't you know?" answered Mr. Bobbs enthusiastically. "Why, that is a handy match receiver, made by Mrs. Bobbs. I scratch a match and use it. It must not be thrown on the floor. There is the receiver. Holding the burned match carefully in my fingers, I move the piano away from the wall to the center of the room. Then I go down in the basement and get the step-ladder. I place the stepladder against the wall, mount it, deposit the match in the receiver, climb down again. I then return the stepladder to the basement, come back and move the piano into its former position. There's nothing like having these things about the house. It makes neatness and discourages smoking."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Recipes For Long Life.
The late John Bigelow, the patriarch of diplomats and authors, and the no less distinguished physician and author Dr. S. Weir Mitchell were together several years ago at West Point. Dr. Bigelow was then ninety-two and Dr. Mitchell eighty.

The conversation turned to the subject of age. "I attribute my many years," said Dr. Bigelow, "to the fact that I have been most abstemious. I have eaten sparingly and have not used tobacco and have taken little exercise." "It is just the reverse in my case," explained Dr. Mitchell. "I have eaten just as much as I wished, if I could get it; I have always used tobacco, immoderately at times, and I have always taken a great deal of exercise."

With that ninety-two years shook his head at eighty years and said, "Well, you will never live to be an old man."—Lippincott's.

A Free Hotel.
At Miramar, on the island of Majorca, in the Mediterranean, is a free hotel, where accommodations may be had for three days upon application to the agents of the Archduke Luis Salvador of Austria. It is a beautiful spot, and the entire neighborhood is full of attractions to the traveler. Attendants in charge look after the welfare of guests, who must, however, provide for their own food. Beds, linen and table appointments they receive gratis, and bread and wine can be obtained very reasonably. It is said that this provision is due to the gratification the Austrian owners felt years ago when they first came to live at Miramar. Such peace and such loveliness, they felt, should be shared by all lovers of nature who passed that way.—Argonaut.

One of the Antiques.
"There," said the man who had purchased a pedigree that reached back to the "coming over" of William the Conqueror, "is a gold snuffbox that was used by one of my great-great-grandfathers."
"Very interesting," replied the gentleman who was examining the thing. "Very interesting, indeed. I had no idea that the 'made in Germany' mark had been in use as long as that."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Sad Mistake.
The wife cooked a dish of prunes, which appeared to find no favor with members of the family. The prunes "went begging" for a day or two until the husband, tired of seeing them, decided to get rid of them.

The next evening he found a big dish of prunes at his place.

"You liked those other prunes so well," said his wife, "that I thought I would cook some more."—Indianapolis News.

He Took After Mother.
The star pupil arose at the school entertainment to declaim his piece.
"Lend me your ears," he howled.
"Huh," sneered the mother of the opposing but defeated pupil, "that's Sarah Jane Doran's boy. He wouldn't be his mother's son if he didn't want to borrow something."—Exchange.

Thomas—That Miss Wadleigh is rather reserved, isn't she? Jack—Very much so. I reserved her for life last night.

Love, a cough, smoke and money can't long be hid.—French Proverb.

that year Representative Storrs, of New York, introduced a resolution making senators elective by the people. Another resolution of similar import was introduced by Representative Wright of Ohio, in 1829. In 1850 Senator Clemens, of Alabama, introduced the first senatorial direct election resolution in the senate. Nothing resulted from these movements.

Question Agitated in 1861.
It was Andrew Johnson who revived congressional agitation for the direct election of senators. As a member of the house of representatives, he introduced two resolutions for the change, and in 1860 renewed the agitation as a member of the senate. In 1868, as president, he sent a special message to congress advocating the measure, and then repeated his recommendations in his annual message.

The subject was revived in 1873, 1876, 1886 and 1888, but without success. In 1893 the house agreed to the proposition, as it did in the succeeding congress, and still again in 1898, 1900 and 1902. The proposed change on none of these occasions won a favorable report from committees in the senate.

With the house thus arrayed year after year in favor of the change, the senate became the battleground. Senator Bristow, of Kansas, took the lead in advocacy of amending the constitution along this line. In December, 1909, he introduced his first resolution. A year later he obtained a report from the committee, but a feature had been tacked onto his proposal which brought on a fight in the senate, threatened to kill the entire proposition. This interposed feature was to amend other provisions of the constitution so as to deprive the federal government of power to supervise the state regulations as to the time and manner of election. The votes of southern senators threatened to defeat the main proposition if the federal government was given this power. Senator Root made a speech in which he criticized the method employed by southern states in depriving negroes of the right of suffrage. Senator Bacon replied that the federal government was being given the power once more to enact "force bills" and send armies and marshals into southern states to intimidate voters. On February 28, just before the end of the session, the resolution was defeated by four votes.

Senator Bristow reintroduced the resolution in the special session immediately following. The fight of the preceding session was repeated, but this time the friends of the resolution won by a vote of 64 to 24, or five more than the required two-thirds.

The house had passed a resolution which made it clear the federal government was not to interfere with senatorial elections in the states. For weeks the measure was in conference. Finally the house conferees receded and the house agreed to the senate measure by a vote of 237 to 39.

The Oregon Plan.
Previous to this time, the several states had taken the bit in their teeth by enacting laws which in effect did not wait for a constitutional amendment on the subject. Probably the most successful of these was adopted in Oregon. It virtually directed the members of the legislature to elect the person who received the majority vote at the regular election, when the placing of the name of a candidate for United States senator upon the tickets was authorized.

The control of legislatures by great corporations was assigned by Senator Bristow as one of the main reasons for the demanded change. "With the development during recent times of the great corporate interests of the country," said he, "and the increased importance of legislation relating to their affairs, they have tenaciously sought to control the election of senators friendly to their interests. The power of these great financial and industrial institutions can be very effectively used in the election of senators by legislatures, and they have many times during recent years used that power in a most reprehensible and scandalous manner. They have spent enormous amounts of money in corrupting legislatures to elect to the senate men of their own choosing."

One of the first speeches made in the senate during the twenty-year crusade for the change in favor of the direct election was by Senator Turpie of Indiana. In that speech he declared that the election of senators by legislatures was the one blemish on the democracy which was embodied in the American government.

Hoar's Notable Speech.
One of the most notable speeches ever made in opposition to the change was that of Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, in 1893. He stated the object of the election of senators by legislatures instead of by the people had been to remove one of the two bodies of legislation from the operation of the fleeting passions of the hour, to lay its foundation below the frost, and to remove the appointment of the men who are to compose it, as far as may be, from the temporary excitement which so often move the people to their own harm.

"I am not afraid to say to the American people that it is dangerous to trust any great power of government to their direct or inconsiderate control," he added. "I am not afraid to tell them not only that their sober second thought is better than their hasty action, but that a government which is exposed to the hasty action of a people is the worst and not the best government on earth."

No legislation by congress will be necessary to put the change into effect. It will be incumbent upon the various states to see to it that proper provision is made by the names of senators going on the regular ballots. Should any state fail to do so, it has been suggested that congress might exercise its power of supervising that state's voting regulations so as to require the name to be placed on the ballots.

The first senators to be elected by the new method will be those who take their seats for the term beginning, March 4, 1915. They will be elected at the November elections of 1914.

The first thirty-three states to ratify the amendment were: Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

E. E. BAVINGTON RENOMINATED FOR THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Chosen by Republicans at Mass Meeting Held at Court House Tuesday Night.

Although the night was rainy there was a goodly attendance of Republican voters of the second ward Tuesday night at the court house to select a candidate for member of the board of education. E. E. Bavington was named by acclamation. Joseph D. Goveia was selected for chairman of the meeting and Fletcher Hopper as secretary. The purpose of the meeting was stated by the chairman and then Mr. Bavington, who has held the position for the past four years, was renominated by J. M. Vasconcellos and a second to the motion was offered by E. F. Johnston. There were no other nominations and Mr. Bavington was then chosen by acclamation. In a brief speech he thanked the voters for the honor and said that he would do his best to secure election and to meet the duties of the position. E. F. Johnston and J. M. Vasconcellos spoke of the need of getting out the vote, although no other nominations have been made.

"OUR WIVES" COMING.

Jos. M. Gaites has chosen what he believes to be the four most beautiful types on the American stage to support Henry Kolker in his production of "Our Wives," which comes to the Grand next Wednesday.

They are Pamela Gaythorne, the handsome English actress, who scored so delightful a success in the leading role of the New theater's production of "Nobody's Daughter"; Isabel MacGregor, the charming auburn-haired Scotch comedienne; Edna von Luke, well remembered in musical comedy, and Gwendolyn Piers, the vivacious southern girl who appeared in the leading feminine role in "The Spendthrift."

Among the men in the cast are Mark Smith, who succeeded Frank McIntyre as the star of "The Traveling Salesman," William Roselle, George Graham and John Findlay, the inimitable character actor.

NEAT SUM REALIZED FOR CHARITY ROOM AT HOSPITAL

Friends Also Will Contribute Funds Sufficient to Furnish Two Rooms in the New Nurses Home at Passavant.

A social tea, under the auspices of the Hospital aid society, with the ladies of the Baptist church and Trinity Episcopal church as hostesses, was given Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. T. Capps on West State street. The neat sum of $15.00 was realized which will be used in furnishing the charity room at the hospital. Announcement was also made that two rooms in the new nurses home would be furnished, one room by Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Capps and another by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oregan.

The meeting was successful in every way and during the afternoon Miss Jeanette Powell gave two readings which were greatly enjoyed.

The hostess of the afternoon from Trinity church assisting Mrs. Capps were: Mrs. Charles Fawcett, chairman, Mrs. Harry Andre, Mrs. W. W. Schermerhorn, Mrs. Albert Cox, Mrs. Andrew Russell, Mrs. J. A. SOCIAL EVENTS.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Country club of Orleans was held Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. William Arnold at Arnold. There was a good attendance of members in spite of the inclement weather and a very entertaining meeting was held. The paper of the afternoon was on Helen Hunt Jackson's "Ramona," and was presented by Mrs. Harry Rice. The roll call was answered to with gems from Helen Hunt Jackson and toward the close of the meeting elegant refreshments were served. Mrs. Charles Ehnle, Mrs. James Strawn and daughter, Miss Hazel, were among those present from Jacksonville.

A number of friends gathered at the home of Miss Flossie Flynn on Duolin avenue, Tuesday evening, in honor of Miss Leona Locke of Quincy. Music and games furnished amusements and during the evening delicious refreshments were served.

Among those present were Misses Viola Mayes, Hannah Mahoney, Etta and Della Ferguson, Flossie Flynn, Leona Locke, Victoria McCool, Nellie Boland and Helen Murphy, and Messrs. Raymond Mayes, Jerry and Kirk Cruzan, C. Haxton, Lawrence Redburn, Albert Cox, Roy Vancil, William Naylor and Harvey Franz.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Miss Nellie Cunningham and Miss Lucy Beattie, who have been spending the past six weeks in Washington, D. C., have returned home. Their return was delayed on account of the high water in Ohio, and even then they were delayed fourteen hours in reaching Chicago, as a bridge over one of the small streams in eastern Ohio was washed away, just as their train approached it. They feel that a serious accident was narrowly averted.

WITH THE SICK.

Miss Olive Smith is reported ill at her home on North Church street. Joseph Tomlinson, who has been a patient at Passavant hospital for the past six weeks, was not so well Tuesday.

PRESENTS CAUSE OF ANTI-SUFFRAGE AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Miss Mary Gold of Flint, Mich., Tells Why She Does Not Want the Ballot.

Those who braved the inclement weather Tuesday evening to attend the anti-suffrage meeting at the public library were repaid by hearing a comprehensive presentation of the arguments of those who think that woman should not be endowed with right of suffrage. The speaker, Miss Mary E. S. Gold of Flint, Mich., a sister of Mrs. F. S. Hayden of this city, is a close student of this question which has so recently agitated the people of her home state and which was once more decided in the negative by the voters of Michigan, Monday. Though not large, her audience was appreciative of the points of argument presented, being for the most part students of the question from the local suffrage club.

"For one Jane Adams we must realize that there are thousands of women ignorant of and indifferent to this question of suffrage. We should think carefully before taking a step that will result in doubling the number of voters. We should question whether or not such enfranchisement would bring the reforms aimed at, would lessen the political confusion now existing. Women, like all Gaul, may be classified in three parts—a small number who want the ballot, an equally small number actively opposed to it, and a large class indifferent to the whole matter, a class who seem to look upon equal suffrage as a thing to be tolerated because it's bound to come."

Do Not Want Ballot.
"Were we to grant the ballot to women we should be imposing an obligation upon a class of citizens, ninety-one per cent of whom do not desire it. In 1895, when the people of Massachusetts were given a chance to vote on equal suffrage, but four per cent of the women of that state came out and registered their desire for the ballot. At a recent election in Michigan where women taxpayers may vote on bond issues, only twenty-seven per cent of the qualified woman voters came out."

Fallacies Answered.
Miss Gold said that the hope of securing equal pay for men and women by the ballot in such professions as school teaching, is a vain one. Such things are governed by the law of supply and demand. The argument for enfranchising women, based upon their increased privileges in higher education, is fallacious because in the one case only a few women are affected while in the case of suffrage the privilege extended to a few means the same privilege to all. It is woman's non-possession of the ballot that renders her efforts in all so-called 'indirect action' as effective as it is. She has no ax to grind, no party principal to defend. The assumption that women are inherently superior to men morally is quite unfounded, as admitted by suffragist writers themselves.

WHITE HALL WANTS IN.

Would Become Members of W. L. H. S. L.—Rushville Out.

Principal Gore has received word that Rushville, who has been a member of the Western Illinois High School league since its inception, has been expelled, giving as a reason the inability to make the trip to and from Jacksonville in one day. The principal there also stated that they intended joining a military track association in their neighborhood.

Following on the announcement of Rushville's desire to withdraw comes a communication from the principal of White Hall High school stating that that school was very desirous of becoming a member of the W. L. H. S. L. and wanting to know the conditions of membership. It is not at all unlikely that the Greene county school will be admitted as they have been coming to the front along athletic lines and the students should make worthy successors to the Rushville boys. Before White Hall can be admitted a vote must be taken of all the schools in the league and this matter will be attended to at once.

RECEIVES LETTER FROM SISTER

Joseph L. Capps of North Church street has received a letter from his sister, Mrs. Effie McCabe, who resides at Delaware, O., which was badly damaged in the recent Ohio floods. The letter was written April 3 and Mrs. McCabe stated that all the bridges on the Wabash had been swept away and that nobody seems to know just what caused the floods. Speaking on the rapidity with which the waters receded, Mrs. McCabe wrote: "It was astonishing that the water receded so soon. The following morning we could walk down Main street * * * where the water the day before had been up to the second story windows * * * without getting our feet muddy."

Mr. Green has been so long in the business that he is accounted one of the best informed of the seamen there.

MORTUARY

Wakeman.

William Floreth received a telegram yesterday announcing the death of Henry Wakeman, one of the veteran dry goods merchants of Mason City. For sometime Mr. Floreth was in the employ of Mr. Wakeman and a great friendship has ever since existed between the two men.

Mr. Wakeman was born in Neward, N. Y., April 22, 1862, and died Sunday night after an illness of four months of stomach trouble. He went to Mason City in 1868 and married Miss Anna M. Barnes at Atlanta, Ill., in 1877. They were the parents of two children, Leota and John, both of whom, together with the mother survives. He also leaves one brother and twin sisters.

Mr. Wakeman was in the dry goods business in Mason City for over 45 years and was in the wholesale oil business three years, also interested in farming and stock raising and was accounted a man of much means. He was a candidate for secretary of state on the Prohibition ticket in 1912. He was a member of the Masons, Modern Woodmen and Mutual Aid.

The funeral will be held today at 2:30 o'clock. The bearers will be former employees of the deceased and among them William Floreth, who will go to Mason City this morning and J. W. Blackburn of Lincoln, who was formerly in business in Jacksonville.

Baptist.

Relatives in the city have received word of the death of the two months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baptist of Springfield, death ensuing at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Besides the parents one sister survives. The family formerly lived in Jacksonville and have been in Springfield over a year.

Mrs. John Lewis and Mrs. Joseph Baptist, grandparents of the child, went to Springfield last night. It is probable that the remains will be brought to Jacksonville for burial, with funeral services Thursday.

Ornellas.

Funeral services for Frank Ornellas were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Reynolds undertaking establishment in charge of Jacksonville Aerle No. 509. Fraternal Order of Eagles, of which the deceased was a charter member. Worthy President, Frank U. Correa and Worthy Chaplain Edward Jackson, conducted the services according to the ritual of the order and they were most impressive.

William N. Hargrove spoke briefly but eloquently referring to the deceased as a young man of exemplary life. He spoke of the young man's industry and of the kindly, cheerful spirit which was manifested during a long period of ill health. Mr. Ornellas he said had not lived in vain and there was much in the character and spirit of the deceased to call for admiration and the tribute of respect. In closing referring to the solemn journey to the cemetery which the funeral party must soon enter upon Mr. Hargrove said: "And now by gentle hands his body will be borne to its last resting place upon the bosom of his mother earth, that mother who above all others of this time, recognizes the common, equal brotherhood of all men."

Mrs. James Scott sang with much feeling: "Lead Kindly Light," and Edward McKavitt and Frank Wunderlich sang "Nearer My God to Thee." There was an abundance of beautiful flowers which were cared for by Misses Esther Ornellas, Rose Bringle and Georgina Bringle.

Interment was made in Jacksonville cemetery and the bearers were: Walter DeShara, Michael McGinnis, Frank Wunderlich, Otto Willner, Edward McKavitt and George Murphy.

Shirkey.

Mrs. Laphelia Shirkey died Tuesday at 12:45 o'clock at the family residence, three miles west of Arcadia, at the age of 43 years. Her maiden name was Henderson, a daughter of Amos Henderson, Sr., of that community. She was born ill for a long time and death was not altogether unexpected.

She is survived by her aged father three children, Mrs. William Malli-coat, Mrs. Lydia Lovings and Amos of the Arcadia neighborhood and one sister, Mrs. Susan Smith of Arcadia.

The funeral services will be conducted from the Arcadia church Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock and interment will be made in the Arcadia cemetery.

Self.

William C. Self, who has been confined to his home for the past two months by illness, died Tuesday evening at 6:15 o'clock at the family residence, 681 East State street at the age of 73 years. For the past two years Mr. Self had not been a well man and during his recent illness little hopes were held out by the attending physician for his recovery. He was born and reared in this community and was known for his upright life and honesty toward all. For a number of years he was in the grain business in this city and also at one time conducted an implement store. He was a member of the Salem M. E. church.

He was twice married and is survived by his wife and one son Spencer Sherman. He also leaves three sisters, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. William Harrison and Mrs. George Swain all of Morgan county. No funeral arrangements have been made.

A suitable obituary will appear later.

NEW DANGER MENACES ILLINOIS RIVER DIKES

STEADY DOWNPOUR OF RAIN RAISES WATER ONE-HALF INCH.

Sandbags on McGhee Levee Begin Slipping Into River Tuesday—Strong East Wind Drives Waves Against Stronghold.

Commencing at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning and continuing through the day and night, a steady downpour of rain fell at Mercedia, resulting in a rise of one-half inch during the afternoon, causing increased anxiety among the men at work on the McGhee levee and also causing an increase in the efforts to strengthen the dike.

A strong east wind added to the danger and although none of the waves were sufficiently large enough to go over the top, they made the levee very wet and caused the sandbags to slip into the water. A fleet of barges was kept going all day and night, carrying sandbags to the levee in an effort to strengthen the structure and keep the water out, and although the river is expected to keep raising for a day or two at least, the men are still hopeful of holding the water out.

The raise of one-half an inch Tuesday afternoon brings the river to within one inch of the high mark since the flood began a few weeks ago, at the drop from Sunday to Monday night was not more than one and one-half inches.

Members of the three companies of militia are still kept busy patrolling the dike and are doing effective work. Sergeant Kingsley, who has been at home on a furlough, expects to return to camp this morning. Co. F of Quincy held an election at the camp Monday, to fill the vacancy of first lieutenant, caused by the resignation of Ellis Grubb last fall. Second Lieutenant Horace Jellison was chosen for the post and Sergeant Wingarter was elected to fill Lieut. Jellison's place. The men will have to take the customary examinations after their return to the home station, and if they pass, commissions will be issued to them, after which they will assume the duties of their new places.

Little change in the situation at Naples and Beardstown has been witnessed and the refugees at both places are being well cared for.

As these words fell from the speaker's lips, the house and senate applauded. Then the gallery joined in. Mrs. Wilson and the president's daughters and other relatives joined from the executive gallery. Ambassador Bryce of England looked on with evident interest. So did Ambassador Jusserand of France and the representatives from other nations. Where a few moments before the event had seemed unusual, almost unreal, it now appeared perfectly adjusted to conditions and not at all dramatic.

Message is Concise.

The applause subsiding, the president began to read his brief message on the tariff. He spoke slowly and forcefully and in less than eight minutes, he was done. No interruption occurred and he left the stand immediately, while the congress applauded.

In the speaker's room again President Wilson chatted for a few moments with the members of the committee, and accompanied by Secretary Tumulty, left the capitol at 1:10. At 1:18, half an hour after he had left the cabinet meeting, he was at luncheon in the white house, preparing for the business of the afternoon. Read president's message on page 8.

MISS EMERSON RELEASED.

London, April 8.—Miss Zelle Emerson, a suffragette of Jackson, Mich., was released from the Holloway jail 9 o'clock tonight. She was taken by her mother to a nursing home, where she will be given medical treatment. Mrs. Emerson gave no answer. Mrs. Emerson feels grave anxiety for her daughter's condition and will not permit her to see anyone.

VERY LIGHT VOTE POLLED AT PRIMARY ELECTION TUESDAY

Total Number of Ballots Cast Was 834—P. D. Megginson, Robert Coultas and William Mortimer Are the Candidates For Commissioner.

At the election last November between 7,500 and 8,000 Morgan county voters expressed their preferences. Yesterday a primary election was held to choose candidates for county commissioner and in thirty precincts out of thirty-one in the county the total number of votes cast was 834. It was not possible to get the figures by phone from Centerville last night but the vote cast there would not swell the total greatly.

Peter D. Megginson, Republican candidate was chosen without opposition, his vote being 223; Robert R. Coultas, Democrat received 392 votes while his opponent, Spencer Carpenter, received 166; William Mortimer, Progressive candidate had no opposition and received 53 votes. WATER FLOODED HOME.

A. B. Williamson has received a letter from his friend Charles Bolander, formerly of this city and now of Dayton, Ohio, in which the writer says that water is standing to a depth of eighteen inches on the first floor of his home. The family is living in the second story and making the best of the situation.

Youthful Idea In Clothes

A FEW of the far-sighted makers of clothes awoke to the fact that most men want clothes that help them keep cheerful. They found that age wasn't the dividing factor of clothes fashions. Even men along in years want clothes with the spirit of youth. It was to these makers that we went for the charming models we are showing. You'll find the trim, shapely models in the lead, because there's character to them. Garments that hug closely to the neck, fit smoothly across the shoulders and back, tailoring you will find only in the most highly specialized clothes making organizations. You'll find the little touches on ours that are not to be had in other makes.
